- We reserve the right to make changes to our catalog. An order placed by the customer represents a binding offer by the customer. We may accept this offer within 14 days at our option by sending a confirmation of the order or by shipping the goods ordered within this period.

Notice of revocation must be provided in writing in any case. In cases in which the failure to make timely delivery relates only to a partial delivery or partial performance, the right of revocation likewise is limited to the respective portion provided that, if viewed objectively, such a limitation on the right of revocation does not affect the rest of the contract. Supplies of goods and services that are not completed or are delayed as a result of circumstances for which we are not at fault, including delays in the delivery of essential materials from our suppliers, entitle us to make a correspondingly delayed delivery or to revoke the contract in whole or in part without the customer accruing a right to compensation for damages as a result. In cases in which the delay is unacceptable to the customer, it is likewise entitled to revoke the contract subject to the exclusion of a right to compensation for damages. In any case, compliance with periods and/or dates requires the prior, final clarification of all technical details and if applicable, the timely provision of specifications, approvals, etc. to be provided by the customer and the satisfaction of all necessary requirements, as well as the receipt of any agreed prepayments.

Section 6 Freight damage

- Freight damage will only be compensated in the event such damage is immediately noted on the bill of lading upon receipt of the goods and the bill of lading is not signed “Goods received in good order and complete.” Freight damage must be documented within 3 business days by means of the prescribed verification. - The customer is required to notify us in writing without delay in the event of garnishment or other third-party attachments and to notify third parties asserting any such interests of our reservation of title. A transfer by way of security is prohibited.
- If the customer is in breach of contract, especially in default of payment, we are authorized to retake possession of the purchased item. Retaking possession of the purchased item does not represent revocation of the contract on our part unless we have stated this expressly in writing or mandatory provisions of the Consumer Credit Act are applicable. Attachment/seizure of goods on our part represents the revocation of the contract in any case. In the event we take goods back from an entrepreneur, we may dispose of them by private sale on the best possible terms if we have threatened such a sale on sufficient notice. We will credit the sales proceeds, less reasonable costs of sale, at least 20% of the value of the goods, against the customer's liabilities.
- Goods retaken by us and return delivery of catalog products must be sent “carriage paid” if sent by the customer.
- If the product has been used or damaged in the interim, the residual value of the product will be credited. A return delivery may only be credited in full if the goods fully conform to the condition in which they were delivered.
- Special dimension products will only be credited subject to the usability.
- In the event we are entitled to take back goods, the customer is obligated to permit one of our employees to be present for an inventory of the goods in which we have retained title.

A resale is only permitted if we have been informed in time and if we get the name and address of the buyer and we agree to the sale. In the event of our consent, the purchase price claim is already assigned as assigned to us and we are always authorized to inform the buyer of this assignment. We revocably authorize the buyer to collect the claim assigned to us on our behalf in his own name. Pledges or assignments by the buyer are not permitted. The buyer keeps the (co-) property for us free of charge.
10. In the event of even partial default in payment, we are entitled to collect the goods in a reasonable manner and without the consent of the buyer at its expense or to demand the assignment of the buyer's claims for return against third parties. The buyer is not entitled to sell reserved goods without prior written consent. The withdrawal, as well as the garnishment of the reserved goods by us does not mean a withdrawal from the contract, as far as the consumer credit law does not apply. In the event the buyer breaches the obligations described above, the buyer is obligated to pay us a contractual penalty in the amount of 20% of the invoice value of the object purchased; the foregoing is without prejudice to our rights to compensation for damages.

Section 8 Transfer of risk; Shipment

1. In any case the goods are delivered or shipped, as applicable, at the customer's risk. To the extent not otherwise agreed, the shipping route and means of transport are at our option. For all other purposes, risk passes to the customer upon transfer of the goods to a carrier or freight forwarder, at the latest however when the goods leave our warehouse (in the event of a drop shipment upon leaving the warehouse of our prior vendor). Upon the customer's request, we can purchase transport insurance at its expense.
2. If delivery is delayed due to circumstances for which the customer is responsible, risk passes to the buyer on the date of notice of readiness for dispatch.
3. Goods that have been delivered, must be accepted by the customer, even in the event they exhibit minor defects, without prejudice to its rights under Section 7.

Section 9 Warranty for defects

1. Warranty rights of entrepreneurs require that they have immediately and properly complied with their inspection and notification obligations without undue delay. Used equipment is sold "as seen." Non-entrepreneur customers must inspect goods delivered for completeness, defects, incorrect delivery, transport damage and the lack of guaranteed attributes as soon as possible following delivery. Complaints must be sent to us by registered letter within 14 days of delivery.
2. In the event of defect caused by us, we are authorized and obligated at our option to attempt cure or make a substitute delivery.
3. If we are unwilling or unable to remedy the defect or if it is delayed beyond reasonable deadlines for reasons we are responsible or if the defect removal / replacement delivery fails in any other way, the customer is free to choose entitled to demand either conversion (cancellation of the contract) or a corresponding reduction of the purchase price.
4. Unless otherwise stated below, further claims of the customer, regardless of legal basis, are excluded. Accordingly, we are not liable for damages not suffered by the delivered goods themselves. In particular, we are not liable for lost profits or other financial damages suffered by the customer.
5. Exclusion of liability does not apply to the extent the cause of damage relates to intent or negligence. Furthermore, it does not apply if the customer asserts claims for damages due to the fault of a guaranteed property. Liability for damages is limited to foreseeable damages.
6. In the event we negligently breach an essential contractual obligation or culpa in contrahendo on our part, our liability for damages is limited to foreseeable damages typical to the contract.
7. We supply functioning goods. We only warrant that goods will be fit for the customer's intended purpose on the basis of an express, written commitment.
8. We are available to provide the customer information and advice on the use of our products to the best of our knowledge. However, we are only liable in such cases, within the scope of the foregoing provisions, in cases in which separate compensation has been agreed for such services.
9. The warranty period is two years from the transfer of risks. This period is likewise a limitation period and applies to claims arising from unlawful acts.

10. The warranty period applies only in the case of new products; this period is two years from the date of delivery in the case of defects in fabrication and materials. Any such defects must be reported to us in writing without delay; upon request the parts concerned must be sent to us. All warranty rights lapse in the event the technical, maintenance and operating instructions provided by the supplier are not used and/or applied pursuant to Ö-Norm/DIN, in the event modifications are made to the products, parts are exchanged or consumable materials are used that do not comply with the original specifications. No liability is assumed for defects in the case of parts subject to natural wear and tear by virtue of their nature, type or use.

Section 10 Total liability

1. To the extent our liability for damages is excluded or limited pursuant to Section 7.4 to 7.7 this applies in like manner to all other claims including producer liability claims.
2. Section 10.1 does not apply to claims provided in the Product Liability Act as well as inability or impossibility.
3. If our liability is excluded or limited this also applies to the personal liability of our employees, appointees, representatives, and agents.
4. The limitations period for claims between us and the customer is governed by Section 7.9 as far as claims from the producer liability are in question.

Section 11 Reservation

1. We reserve the right during the period of validity of the catalog to remove, replace products or to make technical and visual changes.
